

Hello, my name is Michael Tempesta. I am currently completing my degree in Information Technology. I started my education in IT at Bunker Hill Community College, where I obtained my associate degree in IT and a bunch of stackable certificates within my major. From there, I attended Curry College, where I am finishing up my degree. I started working in 2015 at Staples as a Technology Sales associate, where I helped customers with all their technology questions and needs. From there, I was promoted to Technology Sales Supervisor, where I oversaw the department and the head tech who worked on the computer when they came in for repair. My time at Staples lasted about 8 years in total. I currently work at Eastern Nazarene College as a Help Desk Analyst, overseeing the classroom technology to ensure it works and that any problems that arise are taken care of promptly. I also work with others at the school when issues arise to resolve them quickly so they can continue to be productive in their job. During all of this, I obtained my A+ certification from CompTIA. I also help my church, the South Weymouth Church of the Nazarene, with all their technology needs, from networking to tech support to website.
